Are you new to digital photography? Did you just get your first digital camera and are wondering what comes next? This class may be just what you are looking for. In the course you will begin by taking a series of pictures of Point Vicente Park and the PV coastline. During the course, you will use Photoshop Elements 8 to upload your pictures to the computer, organize them so they can be quickly found, improve their color and brightness, make a simple slide show and other creations, and finally learn how to share them via email, ordering prints, or uploading them to photo sharing websites.

The overall objective is to introduce the student to the basics of digital photography from taking their pictures all the way through sharing their enhanced images with family and friends. Each of the topics addressed will only explore its very basics, and yet allow the student to do something useful. The intent is to provide the foundation and desire to want to learn more and hopefully enroll in future classes covering the various topics in more detail. The pace and depth of coverage in the course are designed to avoid the frustration that can set in when first getting involved with this rapidly changing technology.
