

Adapting to Wildfires on the Urban Edge in Southern California

An Important, Timely
FREE Lecture

Tuesday, November 17
7-8:30 pm at Terranea
Free Self Parking

Recent fires in Southern California have raised concerns about how to reduce fire hazard caused by the ever burgeoning human population and yet still maintain natural ecosystems.

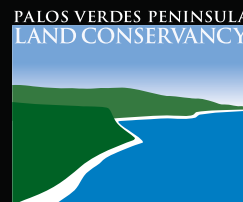

This is an important issue to Peninsula residents because of the August fire that burned 180 acres in the Palos Verdes Nature Preserve.

Dr. Jon E. Keeley, one of the region's most respected experts on fire, local ecology and post-fire regeneration, will present science- and research-based information about wildfires and how to best adapt one's home environment.

Following the lecture Andrea Vona, Executive Director of the Palos Verdes Peninsula Land Conservancy, will review the Fire Recovery Plan for the local Preserve.

Please RSVP to jwittman@pvplc.org
or call Jill Wittman
at 310.541.7613 X201

Sponsored by

TERRANEA
RESORT