

Surfwriters

Minutes – November 18, 2011- Cont'd

Some pertinent information from November speaker, Craig MacDonald:

1. Write every day – carve out time – absolutely critical to achieve writing goals
2. If you're self publishing, look into working with a museum or a bookstore to handle financials when selling your book – avoids a lot of the business hassle – unless you're trying to make a million dollars
3. His last few publications have been self-published using DeHart's Media Services in Santa Clara whom he heartily recommends for handling all your needs including graphics. Don DeHart is the owner and you can consult the company's web site www.deharts.com for info on how to contact, etc.
4. Craig can be contacted through his web site www.goldrushglimpses.com if you have questions. Just mention you are a Surfwriter

(We might consider him as a speaker for our August writing workshop. ML)